ery member of the band was in jail. Tangier. "Heath was tried in Tombstone, with Judge Penney presiding in the superior court. The case clearly from a Scandinavian legend which at-showed Heath to have been the instigator of the whole affair. In his in- evil spirit Nikr. structions to the jury, Judge Penney told the jury that they must not forget that a man who planned a robbory or murder, even thought he took no actual part in it, was just as guilty and should receive the same punish ment as the men who staged the robbery. Somehow or other the jury brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree and Heath got off with a sentence of life imprisonment.

Citizens Not Satisfied "That sentence didn't suit either Tombstone or Bisbee. But both towns kept their feelings pretty much under the surface "Ben Williams was superintendent for the Copper Queen in Bisbee at that time. He and another man handled the whole works. I'en kept one eye on the mines and the other on the books, and did about ten men's work and still had time to make more friends than any man I've ever met. Ben was considerably wrought up over the killing, like everyone else here There was some fear that Heath and his gang might try to break jail, so Ben sent me over to Tombstone to help the sheriff's office guard the prisoners. "On the morning of February 22, 1884, Bill Ward, jailor at Tombstone and a son of Sheriff Ward, had charge of the jail. I was with him as an extra guard. We were sitting in a sort of ante room in the jail. Heath was alone in a corner cell, usually reserved for women, and the rest of the gang, under sentence to hang the next month, were in one of the 'tanks. "At about 8 o'clock that morning Bill and I heard a noise outside the door. We thought it was a Chinaman bringing the prisoners their break-fast. So did the prisoners. They rat-tled their cups and tin plates and shouted for breakfast. Without get ting his gun. Ward went to the door and opened it. A mob of men rushed Not a one was masked, but ail were beavily armed. They overpowered Ward and took away his keys Ward called to me. Just as soon as appeared four six-shooters were poked at me and I was told to stick up my bands. #### Auto Shows Bring Out Many Features by the pastor.

It is hardly possible to pick up a newspaper these days without noting a reference to something new in the motor-car industry. Improvements in springs, bodies, carburetors, motors, and other important working parts of the car are seemingly everyday affairs.

Altogether the tendency is to decrease first cost as far as is consistent with good workmanship and material, keeping constantly in mind the fact that long life must be maintained and upkeep cost must be held down to a low level.

The most notable exception to the general tendency to cut manufacturing costs by substituting new materials, new designs, and new methods of production, is the automobile storage battery. The staunchness with which the principal battery manufac-

Mudebaker Ideal for Two or Three

Studebaker builds two attractive roadsters, each mounted on the sturdy 40-horsepower LIGHT-SIX Chassis.

Both cars are ideally suited to the requirements of the professional or business man, or the small family.

The open Roadster seats three adults in perfect comfort, with ample room for complete relaxation. The lines of the top harmonize with the graceful body. The wide doors with outside and inside door handles, permit easy entrance and exit. There is ample luggage space under rear deck.

For a convenient, light, easily operated car of great economy, there is no other three-passenger SIX on the market at or anywhere near its price.

The Coupe-Roadster, like the open roadster, is built complete by Studebaker. It is one of the most attractive enclosed cars of the year and, at its price, has no competition. In materials and workmanship it measures up to the highest standards of the industry. Seats two passengers with plenty of leg room.

Interior is upholstered in genuine leather. Windows are raised and lowered by simple automatic device. Equipment includes cowl ventilator, side coach lamps, thief-proof transmission lock, windshield wiper and clock.

You cannot obtain greater intrinsic values at any price.
